

Elizabeth Wolfe

Elizabeth Wolfe was born and raised in a small Equestrian town, Tryon N.C. She now lives in Westchester NY.

In high school, one art class led Elizabeth to a BFA at Brevard College and Art History in Gamming, Austria. Elizabeth loves the physicality that is involved with creating a painting. She also has a great love for horses; she has spent most of her life around these majestic creatures. She is able to put both of them together in the work she creates. Elizabeth is intent on achieving the unique, the different, and the original - but only as it celebrates what is beautiful and positive. She expresses her passionate respect for the harmony of nature through the brilliant colors and energy she shows on the canvas.
