What is cystic fibrosis?

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited chronic disease that affects the lungs and digestive system of about 30,000 children and adults in the United States (70,000 worldwide). A defective gene and its protein product cause the body to produce unusually thick, sticky mucus that clogs the lungs. This leads to life-threatening lung infections, and obstructs the pancreas, preventing natural enzymes from helping the body break down and absorb food.

How does the CF Foundation help?

The mission of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is to cure cystic fibrosis and to provide all people with the disease the opportunity to lead full, productive lives by funding research and drug development, promoting individualized treatment, and ensuring access to high-quality, specialized care. Through individual and corporate donations alone, the Foundation has opened doors for innovative research that have already led to life-changing results including the discovery of Kalydeco and Orkambi, the game-changing drugs that are the first to effectively treat the underlying cause of cystic fibrosis for a portion of the CF patient population.
