Fairgate Farm is a volunteer-driven urban farm nestled within the Vita Health & Wellness District on the West Side of Stamford. Our mission is to provide equitable access to organic produce and to strengthen the community through educational and harvest related initiatives. Throughout the growing season, Fairgate Farm hosts seasonal festivals, cooking demonstrations and many workshops focused on environmental stewardship and nutritional awareness. Each year our volunteers harvest over 5,000 pounds of fruits, vegetables, herbs and flowers to benefit the community. One third of Farm produce is donated to local hunger-relief agencies while our volunteers and Farmers Market patrons enjoy the remaining bounty.
